ABSTRACT

Materials are presented from a 1994 meeting on expanding community connections of the six-state Magnolia Circle Outreach Project, which fosters networking between families and professionals involved in services for children (birth to 5 years) with, or at risk for, developmental delays. The meeting was designed to highlight successful collaborative community resources, services, and service delivery mechanisms as well as to strengthen regional networks by linking resources and resource persons. Meeting attendees were from Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky, and Tennessee, and represented parent networking programs, community early intervention and preschool programs, public schools, Head Start, state Departments of Education, and a state transition project. Meeting materials include: a list of participants and the meeting agenda, a list of issues and problem-solving strategies proposed by participants, a list of networking ideas, a summary of an address by Agnes Johnson concerning the Technical Assistance for Parent Programs and the Parent Training and Information Centers, a list of potential funding sources and resources for rural interdisciplinary assessment teams and types of staff/professionals who may participate, results of meeting evaluation, and a bibliography of resource materials. ### HIDDEN TREASURES: EXPANDING COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS

On September 22 and 23, 1994, Magnolia Circle Outreach Project staff, with technical assistance services provided by NEC*TAS (the National Early Childhood Technical Assistance System), sponsored a meeting entitled Hidden Treasures: Expanding Community Connections. The keynote speaker and session leader was Agnes Johnson of Special Kids Parent Training and Information Center in Houston, Texas. In keeping with the overall objectives of the Magnolia Project, the purposes of the meeting were to:

- * Highlight successful collaborative community resources, services, service delivery mechanisms
- * Foster networking between and among families and professionals involved in services for young children with or at risk for developmental delays (birth to 5 years) and their families within the Southeastern United States
- * Strengthen regional networks by linking resources and resource persons.

There was a total of 40 attendees at this meeting (two of whom shared "slots"): 2 from Alabama, 2 from Arkansas, 12 from Kentucky, and 24 from Tennessee. Ten persons are parents of children with disabilities, many of whom are providing services to children with disabilities and/or their families and professionals. Attendees were from the following groups/agencies: parent training and information centers, parent groups and parent networking programs, community early intervention and preschool programs, public school personnel, Head Start, Part H districts/regions, State Department of Education, and a statewide project on transition.

Magnolia staff believe that through opportunities to come together, meet each other, and share our knowledge about services and resources, we are better prepared to meet the needs of young children with disabilities and their families. Through these proceedings, we hope to share the thoughts and ideas expressed during this meeting of parents and professionals.

The development of these proceedings was supported by a grant from the United States Department of Education, Early Education Program for Children with Disabilities: the Magnolia Circle Outreach Project, a multistate outreach grant (HD023A10009-91: Steven F. Warren, Principal Investigator). However, the content does not necessarily reflect the position or policy of the U.S. Department of Education, and not official endorsement of these materials should be inferred.

Guidelines for Participants

People's perceptions and feelings about things are often very different. Throughout the training session, we want to provide an opportunity for a variety of ideas, experiences, and feelings to be openly expressed by participants.

Therefore, as you participate in the training activities, please try to have your comments and questions reflect the following thoughts:

- * I respect you as a person.
- * I might learn something from you.
- * I really want to hear more.
- * Your ideas are worth listening to.
- * I care about your opinion.

NOTE: The following list and description of treasure chest items was attached to small lunch bags. The bags contained the items listed. Each participant at the conference was given one of the bags. The staff of the Magnolia Circle Outreach Project would like to thank our colleagues Stella Fair, Lisa Mandracchia, and Margie Cox at the University of Southern Mississippi for sharing this with us.

HIDDEN TREASURES

Here's why your treasure chest contains these items:

RUBBER BAND: to remind you to stretch your ideas and your mind to new limits to foster networking between and among families and professionals.

TISSUE: to remind you to see the tears and needs of others, including those of yourself and fellow community members.

TOOTH PICK: to remind you to "pick out" the good qualities of yourself and others.

BAND-AID: to remind you of healing hurt feelings, either yours or someone else's.

CANDY: to remind you that everyone needs a yummy treat occasionally.

PAPER CLIP: to remind you to "keep it all together" whether "it's" your mental health or the effectiveness of your community.

ERASER: to remind you that everyone makes mistakes sometimes, and that's all right.

KEY: to remind you that we are all different, but together we can unlock many doors.

MINT: to remind you that you are worth a MINT!

Technical Assistance Services Provided by NEC*TAS

Agnes Johnson spoke about herself as a parent and director of the Special Kids Program in Houston, TX. She discussed the demographics of Houston and its relation to the school system. Agnes then talked about the Technical Assistance for Parent Programs, the Parent Training and Information Centers, experimental projects, and emerging projects.

Key points that Agnes made during her introduction were:

- * Be persistent
- * Have a vision and recognize that the vision may change.

Special Kids Incorporated (S.K.I.) is a community-based organization formed to answer the needs of families of children with disabilities for support, education, and information. S.K.I. supports families that have been traditionally underserved and underrepresented in access to information and service delivery in regard to children with disabilities. S.K.I. strongly feels that providers must be:

- receptive to family input by virtue of the child's membership in that family;
- flexible in their service delivery;
- considerate of cultural and environmental factors; and
- acknowledge the right of that child to be an integral part of their community.

The services offered by S.K.I. include: support groups, information, education, recreation activities, and networking. S.K.I. is part of the Technical Assistance for Parent Programs, Federation of Families for Children's Mental Health, and Texas United Regional Network.

DIVERSITY IN ACTION

THE QUESTIONS:

To help to illustrate diversity in belief and practice, Agnes Johnson asked attendees at the Hidden Treasures Meeting the following questions:

What do you when you have a cold?
What is your "cure"?

THE RESPONSES:

Participants' responses to these questions are included in the following list entitled "Cures for the Common Cold" --

- * Honey and lemon
- * Chicken soup
- * Hot tea
- * Nasty tasting root powders
- * Whiskey and honey
- * Hot lemonade
- * Hot bath
- * Rest
- * Vicks vapor rub (chest, nose, etc.)
- * Vaporizing

THE DISCUSSION:

* Agnes highlighted how different these "cures" were. She asked if the person whose cure is to eat chicken soup would be interested in taking some nasty tasting root powder instead. There was some hesitation before the answer "Probably not" came.

* Agnes continued to talk about these various "cures" and how these cures are related to the individual's experiences within their cultural group -- reflecting the values, beliefs, and behaviors of the group. Cultural factors relate to religion, traditions, food, clothes, sex roles in the family, and language.

* The final thoughts are reflected in the following statements:

- * What you like, I may not like and vice versa.
- * That doesn't make it wrong or right; it just is.

Hidden Treasures:
Expanding Community Connections

Related Issues and Strategies for Finding Solutions

During the afternoon of the first day of the meeting, the participants, as a whole group, identified critical issues in expanding community connections to meet the needs of families and children with disabilities (see next pages). Following that, the individual issues were clustered together, and these general issues were delineated:

- * Quality of Services*
- * Family*
- * Inclusion/Exclusion*
- * Resolving Philosophical Differences*
- * Service Coordination*

Next, the participants divided into small groups to discuss one of the general issues and identify strategies to address that particular issue. The following pages are the result of the small group discussions. (5-page table entitled "Related Issues and Strategies for Finding Solutions")

For each issue there is space provided for you and others in your community to record your own ideas. This has been designed to be a "working" document because there can be many different strategies that will affect the same outcome(s). It is in the discussion of these strategies that individuals within communities can explore creative ideas for the benefit of children with disabilities and their families.

HIDDEN TREASURES: EXPANDING COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS
ISSUES TO BE DISCUSSED

* REACHING UNSERVED FAMILIES AND CHILDREN -- concerns and strategies to facilitate networking between local/grassroots efforts and formal systems

* FRAGMENTATION OF SERVICES -- explore strategies that might
(a) prevent this and
(b) offer support to families across the life span

HIDDEN TREASURES: EXPANDING COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS

ISSUES THAT WERE IDENTIFIED BY PARTICIPANTS

- * Finding out about services
- * Serving children in upper income (families)
- * Funding
- * Home schooling, e.g. when children are medically fragile, agencies/school systems want to provide services in the home rather than provide the necessary supports for the child to function in the community setting
- * Breaking through to the "medical fraternity"
- * Summer - extended school year services
- * Diversity within communities - meeting needs individually and collectively
- * Philosophical differences in providing services
- * Creating services where there aren't any
- * OT/PT services - difficulty getting them, especially, finding people with pediatric experience
- * Quality of services
- * Assistants working under certified people
- * Health care reform
- * Family-centered services continuing throughout (the age span)
- * Empowerment - what does it mean?
- * Coordinating service coordination
- * Sensitivity to the family re: jargon and understanding the family's "language"
- * Case loads - no limits
- * Sensitivity to teaching parents to be parents - parenting with responsibility
- * Alternative education for children with behavior problems
- * When early intervention staff "set up" parents that the education system is "bad"
- * Inclusion

21	YOUR IDEAS: 22

* Train professionals to empower families to speak up at IFSP/IEP team meetings and to participate in planning for their child.
 * Provide parents information (format, content) about their rights and their child's condition.
 * Have advocates available to assist parents all along the way.
 * Go to where the families are (e.g., laundromat, creek, revival meetings, etc.); listen to what they say about their needs.
 * Give complete information regarding options (possible approaches, services, etc.) rather than only telling families what the professionals might think is "best" for them.
 * Don't expect families to use jargon and acronyms.
 * Use parent advocates who know the family's language and jargon to accompany the family to ensure meaningful communication.
 * Learn the dialects the families use to better communicate with them.

YOUR IDEAS:

IV. Resolving philosophical differences

Breaking through the medical fraternity
When early intervention staff "set up" families to think the school system is "bad"

Finding resolution:

- * Find common ground.
- * Begin with a pro-active position and maintain it.
- * Clarify all information and all assumptions.
- * Utilize an advocate.
- * Draw on the strength of parent support groups.
- * Begin planning early for meeting to resolve differences.
- * Have strategy meetings before formal meeting; focus on positive outcomes, not to blame or escalate aggressive behaviors.
- * Use clear communication with respect to all parties.
- * Share all ideas to initiate plans for the future.
- * Have exposure to credible information.
- * Stress empathy, not sympathy.
- * Form coalitions between teachers and parents; recognize that it takes time to build a level of trust.
- * Have parents and professionals attend the same training, together.
- * Educate medical personnel and the community at large.
- * Involve community resources into an awareness and sensitivity to individuals who have developmental disabilities.
- * EDUCATE, EDUCATE, EDUCATE.

YOUR IDEAS:

V. Service coordination

A linkage or brokerage agency to find out what services families need and locate or create the services that meet those needs

- * Create services when they are not already available.
- * Help families gain information about the services they will receive (know what they can expect).
- * Survey the community to find out what services are available and what services are needed to avoid duplication.
- * Need maintenance $$ for services to continue as opposed to decreasing funding to established programs and starting new programs.
- * Coordinate/collaborate at state and local levels to recognize and resolve turf issues.
- * Have different agencies pool resources.
- * Have family/professional teams develop options to meet the needs of that particular child and family.
- * Support the family's decision -- even if you may not agree with it!

Interconnectedness of Persons Who Work with Children with Disabilities and Their Families

Attendees at the Hidden Treasures Meeting discussed the relationships that they, as parents and agency representatives, have with each other and the importance of knowing what each other does. This helps to clarify any misconceptions that may have arisen as well as to set the stage for future collaborative activities.

Some attendees were able to share some information with the large group about their roles, agencies, and/or services for young children with disabilities and their families (refer to meeting attendee listing for addresses and phone numbers). Below are some brief notes that were taken:

Veronica Brown

- * Parent of a child with multiple disabilities*
- * Had been asked to participate on advisory boards -- the "token" parent; now the "parent from "..."*
- * Now a parent consultant with the Kentucky Early Intervention System -- role: liaison between parents and agencies*
- * She discussed the "Adopt-A-Legislator" program that she has been involved with*
- * Has a computerized bulletin board to link up with resources for children with deaf-blindness*

Jan Barton

- * Part H Monitor -- position funded through Tennessee Early Intervention System*
- * Federal legislation P.L. 99-457 passed in 1986 -- Part H relates to services for children Birth through 2 (up to age 3)*
- * States must ensure people providing services are doing it the way they should*

Kathy Jaekle

- * Works at SEAC -- Special Education Action Committee in Huntsville, a Parent Training and Information Center*
- * Lots of public relations work -- on television, giving interviews*
- * Important to connect with different agencies*
  - *exceptional family member program with military services -- can go anywhere in world in a post that provides special services -- (An attendee from Kentucky shared that their state Interagency Coordinating Council (ICC) for Part H has a person from the Department of Defense*
- * Head Start*
- * Human Resources*
- * Juvenile Justice*
- * Coalition building important -- teachers will call PTIs to ask for help to move school system along -- one suggestion is to write on IEP to have training workshop in whatever area is needed to ensure appropriate programming*

Wanda Stovall

- * Arkansas Disability Coalition -- currently in year 3 of a 5-year grant period -- Parent Training Center in Arkansas
- * Saw need to decrease the duplication of services, so started a trainers group that meets every other month in Arkansas -- bring in speakers (e.g., discuss changes in procedural safeguards) -- Want to make sure telling parents things in the same way
- * Important to network and share
- * Contact University Affiliated Programs -- Advocacy Services -- PTI's -- will input to a computer Bulletin Board

Cheryl Jackson

- * Parent -- works with Parents Encouraging Parents Program -- funded by a federal Department of Education grant (under 89-313 funds) that funnels through the Tennessee Department of Education to the Tennessee Department of Health into Children's Special Services -- parent support
- * Have a lending library
- * Will have a computer database -- information statewide
- * Working with Georgia Parent-to-Parent National Network -- especially for rare disorders

hidden/connect

HIDDEN TREASURES MEETING

NETWORKING IDEAS FOR MAXIMIZING OPPORTUNITIES

- * Get to know the funding sources and systems in your state -- have state-level people meet and connect with agency-level people.*
- * Seek volunteer substitutes to cover staff responsibilities so staff can visit other programs. Ask administrators and state-level personnel to volunteer; this will give them a first-hand view of the local-level challenges.*
- * Send "personalized" postcards to individuals you have met.*
- * Create opportunities for social visiting.*
- * Utilize Hidden Treasures meeting participants as speakers (see participant list to find out who has indicated a willingness to serve as speakers).*
- * Videotape training sessions to broaden the opportunity to those who cannot attend meetings.*
- * Use teleconferencing.*
- * Contact the 1994 Miss America (who has a hearing disability) and other self-advocates.*
- * Work toward improving interagency communication.*
- * Those interested in planning for this group to get together again next year can meet with Merrill after the meeting today. (Several interested individuals met and discussed tentative plans for meeting next year. As this is developed, participants will receive information about future meetings.)*

Thank you for your response. Please offer any additional comments on the back of this form.

As a result of participation in this workshop I plan to:

- * Find out where the PTI (Parent Training and Information) Center is in TN.
- * Check out what is in the PEP (Parents Encouraging Parents) library.
- * Investigate the possibilities for interstate relationships for service deliveries.
- * Contact the other people for more ideas.
- * Work more closely with the PEP program in my region.
- * Use some ideas of networking.
- * Still work on my ideas of a pre-school "school" site for our early intervention, pre-school public school, head start, day care - before and after school care etc. to share administrative costs and to provide interactive settings and related services for children.
- * Take back and share this information with people and co-workers in my area. I will encourage others to use this information.
- * Explore the idea of "Adopt a Legislator" (idea from KY) for our local parent contacts.
- * Pursue interagency collaboration possibilities to share services.
- * Network with other participants.
- * Try to get this network meeting to continue. We need two full days for this meeting.
- * Contact participants with valuable information for my program.
- * Go back and talk at the state level about getting a regional conference going at this time.
- * Pursue ideas for networking. Renew membership in national and regional organizations.
- * Put lots of energy into keeping this happening.
- * Continue networking with conference participants.
- * Use conference information to train and encourage professionals and parents, collaboratively.
- * Try to keep in contact with as many participants as possible and find ways to have a similar conference in my state of Arkansas.
- * Go back to Alabama with all the great ideas and people I met and try and find the people who can help make the changes that are needed, especially, in the north. I want to attend more workshops and conferences.
- * Keep in touch with a lot of the folks I met there and use some of the strategies that were discussed in the workshops.

Comments for Agnes:

- * It was a real pleasure meeting you.
- * I enjoyed your family stories and your overall presentation.
- * Thanks
- * Good job
- * Thanks for sharing your time, your humor, and your empathy. You are a good listener and helped us assimilate our ideas. You are a remarkable mom and sister, aunt (and friend I'm sure) to those who need your care and love.
- * Thanks for your wealth of information and for the successful pulling together of ideas and possibilities from so many parent/professionals. Also the warmth in sharing was well received!! Thanks for sparking the ideas and pulling everyone together to accomplish so much!

- * I found your participation in this meeting very useful. Your personal family story and your approach to problem solving seems to be punctuated by calmness and reasonableness that I believe will stay with me as I endeavor to help families in my district. Thanks for the inspiration.
- * Thank you for bringing the perspective of parents as you did so well.
- * I enjoyed your presentation.
- * Thanks! It was fantastic!
- * Good job!
- * Provide a different kind of activity to get to know each of the participants rather than just telling our names. Maybe a game. Share more parent books or resources that are used.
- * Enjoyed your insight and comments. Your humorous (funny) interjections were nice and kept us from taking ourselves too seriously.
- * Thanks!
- * Thanks for sharing your ideas.
- * Excellent speaker. I like your energy and enthusiasm. Thank you for being here, sharing your ideas, and facilitating the meeting.
- * Come back!
- * Thank you.
- * I found this conference very helpful. Thank you for coming to Tennessee.
- * Thanks. Please try to keep in touch!
- * I truly enjoyed meeting you, spending last evening at dinner with you. I have learned so much from this conference. It made me realize the importance of networking with people from other states. I hope to see you again.
- * Enjoyed her very much! She was very down to earth and spoke from the heart. Look forward to seeing her in Washington, D.C.

Additional comments:

- * Meeting needs to be 1/2 day longer.
- * Longer (format) would be OK.
- * Was the format was acceptable? -- rated a (6), more than a lot.
- * Have two full days.
